New Zealand travel times & distances

Driving times in New Zealand can be deceiving. Although we are a small country, you will need to allow plenty of time to travel between destinations.

The driving times and distances provided allow for the most direct route between locations and are approximate. They allow for variable road conditions, rest stops and fuel stops. Mileage may vary.

We recommend you allow additional time for sightseeing, photo opportunities and meal breaks. New Zealand speed limits vary from 30 kph through to 100 kph on the open road. For most trips we suggest you allow for an average speed of 80kph.

GREEN LIPPED MUSSELS

Dining in New Zealand

Pacific Rim cuisine is used to describe the range of food available in New Zealand with a fusion of European, Asian and Polynesian influences. Menus will offer an abundance of seafood including freshly caught fish, green lipped mussels and crayfish. From the vast countryside our farms produce succulent lamb, tender beef, pork and venison. You will find eateries presenting food in traditional 'kiwi' cuisine style as well as a plethora of restaurants offering Thai, Indian and Chinese dishes.

Pan Pacific Travel understand that sometimes special dining requirements are needed. We can pass your dining requests onto the properties you will be staying with, just let us know at the time of booking.

HOLIDAYS

Golf

If you enjoy golf, you will not be able to come to New Zealand without playing. In New Zealand golf courses are everywhere; from the big cities to the smallest country towns. Best of all, they're easily accessible. Green fees are remarkably reasonable and visitors are always welcome.

Every year, thousands of golfers from around the world come to experience the unique attractions that New Zealand has to offer. A number of new resort courses have been carved out of the dramatic landscape to complement the already impressive selection of courses around the country. From North to South, there are 385 New Zealand golf courses, including many of a world class standard. It's relatively affordable to play golf in New Zealand, too, with fees at some of our best courses costing less than NZ$100.

If you are interested in adding a visit to a golf course during your time in New Zealand just ask your Pan Pacific Travel consultant and they will take care of the arrangements for you.

Wine

Food and wine are essential ingredients to any visit to New Zealand. Throughout the country there are many internationally acclaimed restaurants and throughout the world New Zealand has become recognised as one of the best wine producers.

Many regions in both the North and South Island offer wine trails and opportunities to visit local boutique wineries for either wine tasting at the cellar door, or perhaps enjoy a fabulous lunch while overlooking the vineyards and dramatic scenery beyond.

The team at Pan Pacific have considerable knowledge of the various wineries in New Zealand and can help design your holiday around the best wine regions to visit.

Some of the areas we recommend include:

Hawke's Bay

On the lower east coast of the North Island, this region includes wineries around Napier and Havelock North and is synonymous with rich and complex chardonnays. The first vines were planted in the mid 19th century by missionaries when the area was first settled, making this New Zealand's oldest wine region.

Red wines now also dominate here with large plantings of Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon and Syrah grapes. The long hot summers and cool winters offer the best weather for growing grapes and, with a latitude of 39.4 south and near the coast, the climate is similar to that of the Bordeaux region in France.

Marlborough

With similar sunshine hours to Hawke's Bay but cooler temperatures, the grapes in Marlborough, at the top of the South Island, have a longer slower growing period which intensifies the flavour of the wine produced. With over 23,000 hectares of land planted in vines, this region accounts for almost 80% of all the wine produced by New Zealand. By far the most popular variety in Marlborough is Sauvignon Blanc, with a distinctive aroma and tangy zest fruit flavours.

The main town in Marlborough is Blenheim which is a great place to stop off for a night to enjoy the region. For travellers touring from Wellington to Christchurch, ask our team about booking an extra night here.

Central Otago

Queenstown in the lower South Island is the perfect place to stay for a few days and visit many of the wineries in the Central Otago region. You will find a delightful range of wineries to tempt your taste buds, many with restaurant facilities affording great views of the surrounding mountain scenery.

Pinot noir is the leading grape variety here and is estimated to account for 70% of all grapes planted in Central Otago.

Day 1 - Christchurch to Hanmer Springs 133kms: Collect your maui Motorhome from Christchurch Airport and before driving to Hanmer Springs, perhaps explore the Garden City of Christchurch. Your introduction to New Zealand will take you over the rolling hills of North Canterbury before heading inland to Hanmer Springs Village – internationally known for its thermal hot pools.

Day 2 - Hanmer Springs to Westport 218km: Today journey over the Southern Alps via Lewis Pass before continuing on towards the West Coast town of Westport. From Westport it is only a short drive to Cape Foulwind to view one of New Zealand's largest mainland seal colonies.

Day 3 - Westport to Franz Josef 278km: The West Coast of the South Island offers one of New Zealand's most spectacular drives. You will have time to stop at Punakaiki to visit the unique Pancake Rocks and Blow Hole, then, with the inspiring Southern Alps dominating your view to the East you will eventually arrive in Franz Josef Glacier township. There are many options for activities in Franz Josef – perhaps take a helicopter flight with a snow landing with The Helicopter Line. You may choose to finish the day with a dip in the local Glacier Hotpools.

Day 4 - Franz Josef to Queenstown 357km: A further drive south along the West Coast today before again crossing the Southern Alps over the Haast Pass. The scenery as you travel past Lakes Wanaka and Hawea with mountains dominating the background is breathtaking. Visit lakeside Wanaka before continuing on to the South Island's alpine resort playground of Queenstown.

Day 5 - Take a break from driving in Queenstown: A full day at leisure in Queenstown. There are so many activities in this beautiful town. Maybe take a trip on the lake in the historic steamship, the TSS Earnslaw, or a gondola ride to enjoy panoramic views across the region from the Skyline complex.

Day 6 - Queenstown to Fairlie via Lake Tekapo 299 kms: Leaving Queenstown today the road will take you through Cromwell, and then to Omarama where more stunning views of the Southern Alps are on offer.
